Texture: The exfoliating towel usually has a rough or grainy texture, which gently removes dead skin cells and impurities. The texture may vary depending on the material used and the degree of exfoliation desired.

Water resistance: A quality exfoliating towel is often designed to be water resistant. This makes it easy to use in the shower or bath, without compromising its quality or effectiveness.

Durability: A good exfoliating towel is designed to be durable and withstand regular use. It must be able to retain its exfoliating texture and quality even after several washes.

Ease of care: Exfoliating towels should be easy to clean and maintain. Most of them can be machine or hand washed, depending on the manufacturer's recommendations.
